J. H. Kirby So Defines Conditions Arising From Prosperous Business Era-Money Abundant in Lone Star State.

Texas just now is experiencing the giratest era of home building in its history, fully 65 per cent of the lumber production of the State being used in homes." declared John Henry Kirby of Houston the "lumber king" of the Southwest, who is a guest at the Planters Hotel.

"The lumber mills of the Lone Star State formerly catered especially to the reffroad interests, and to them was sold nearly all of the output of this commodity," said Mr. Kirby, who probably has sold to rathroads more ties than any other one man. "Now the percentage of rallroad material manufactured by the Texas umbermen is much smaller. This is caused not by the decrease in railroad construction, but by a heavy increase in demand for homes and the manufacture of a better class of material by the lum-
